Jasin stated that around NYS there are 150 Trojans where there are only three De Nora's. Which raised concerns such as ordering and getting parts and if it is easy to maintain. Dean stated that it would be nice to see a fifteen-minute video of each of these to see how they work and wanted to know the turnaround time for ordering them. The sewer Board and OMI agreed it would be nice to have a little bit more info on the two before they decide. Jeffrey Tubolino brought blueprints for WWTP plans which Sewer Board and OMI reviewed.

He stated that if they keep the log updated chances are they are keeping on top of it and if they aren't then chances are they are not keeping track of grease log. He said that the regulated community should keep the log on hand and update it for when the Code Officer comes to establishment.

Commissioner David Allen talked about the City of Rye and their grease trap law that they have. Bill stated that it is more about awareness and responsibility regarding the grease traps. He stated that local law he wrote up is more non NYC approach. He stated that having a log would make it easier for the code officer.
